Re:start: Start-up incubator for refugees

We help refugees to set up their own businesses in Germany. We organise innovative workshops and events and help refugees to build a network of likeminded newcomers. We help refugees to test and implement business ideas and support them with legal issues, help compile business plans and search for potential investors.

Singa: Professional Mentoring Programme

Singa matches newly arrived and local professionals according to similar occupational background, area of interest and skill-set. The program aims to enable an even exchange among professionals from different countries. In particular, the local mentor acts as a professional contact person, enabling newcomers to gain knowledge about local work culture, job application processes, information specific to their occupation and industry in Germany, as well as the opportunity to attend relevant networking events, hosted by SINGA and partner corporations.
